

What is Surge?

Surge is a week event for youth that gives opportunity for fellowship, discipleship, worship and mission. The setting is in the beautiful Smokey Mountains at Lake Junaluska which is a United Methodist retreat center.

Who Is Terry Weaver?

Terry is the keynote speaker for the week.

For over ten years Terry Weaver has been traveling extensively, challenging this Generation about the message of the cross and the purpose God has for their lives. He currently lives outside of Nashville, Tennessee with his wife, Leslie, and his miniature schnauzer, Gibson. However, Terry continues to travel with his ministry that has come to be known as Deepwater Group. Along the way there have been stops at various events including camps, retreats, revivals, Disciple-Nows, Rallies, conferences, workshops, leadership training, concerts, festivals, theme nights, all-nighters, crusades, church services, youth groups, Christian schools and college chapels. If he's speaking to students for one of the largest churches in America, or on a Sunday morning at one of the smallest, the message stays the same. He has a passion for THIS Generation, whether it is youth, college students, or young adults. Terry wants every person he encounters to know that God loves them more than they could ever imagine and that God desires to have a relationship with them!

Who Is Fate of Angels?

Fate of Angels is the house band for our week at Surge.

Fate of Angels is not just another rock band stirring up the music scene; they are much more. They know where they are going and why they exist. They exist to show a generation that all of us were formed to worship our Creator.
